NARRATIVE

would perhaps be more interesting if for any reason schedules had not been met.

The unit has simply done that which was required of it. However all CASU-44 from the Commanding Officer to the seamen has an intense pride in the fact that the job was done and will continue to be done. It is this pride, combined with the difficulties encountered and overcome, and with the hundreds of personal experiences which we have all had, that has accomplished the mission to date.
